with a resolution. That was not the case. This is a small strip of property thirty feet wide and a block long designated as street but currently unused. A church and the City of Lincoln are interested in opening one street and closing another. The state has this reversionary interest in this one street that they are talking about closing. The State Building Commission has agreed to the sale of this strip of land. It has gone through all the steps. The people who work in the building do not need the property.
